

Int. Matthew's Studio.

JENNY GARFIELD

(NARRATING)

What you just heard was Andrew Declan, one of the guards working at Instigate, reading off his letter of resignation. I do not know why he decided to resign, however, he was not the only one.

Int. Nicole's office.

CHARLES GARY

(READING FROM A WRITTEN LETTER)

To the CEO of Instigate Insurance, Henry Firestone, and whomever else it may concern, be they civilian or otherwise, I give this document of resignation. I, Charles Gary, on the Sixteenth of January, Two-thousand-seventeen, resign from the position of security guard at Instigate Insurance. The resignation goes into effect immediately, this Sixteenth of January. I will be seeking employment elsewhere, using the skills I have learned while working at Instigate Insurance. I have resigned for personal reasons and still hold Instigate Insurance in the highest regards.

(CHARLES HANDS NICOLE HIS WRITTEN STATEMENT.)

SOUND: PAPER SHUFFLING.

NICOLE WHITE

Very well.

CHARLES GARY

Good day.

(CHARLES WALKS OFF.)

SOUND: RETREATING FOOTSTEPS. DOOR CLOSING.

(END SCENE)